

We are delighted to introduce you to one of the most remarkable events Southwest Louisiana has ever experienced, Gators On The Geaux.

The Lake Charles Symphony enthusiastically embraced the concept of colorful sculptures in a public art display. So, rising out of the swamps came the gator - that quintessential Southwest Louisiana symbol - as the perfect icon. Thus was hatched the Gators On The Geaux project.

With the assistance of the Arts & Humanities Council of Southwest Louisiana, talented artists swung into action. Generously supported by an equal number of sponsors, they have succeeded in bringing colorful, funny, imaginative and beautiful gators to our streets. Throughout Fall 2001, the smiles brought to the faces of residents and visitors alike will be free.

But the good news doesn't stop there. This project has helped to support the arts in our entire community.

This "outdoor museum" features 70 larger-than-life fiberglass alligators and is truly a testament to the skill and creativity of our local artists. It is also evidence of the wonderful things that can happen when the private and public sector, businesses and artists work together in a partnership. So, to everyone who made this incredible project possible, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

See ya later alligator and enjoy gator huntin' in Southwest Louisiana!
